Horizonte on the trail of gold in Brazil

Horizonte Minerals, an AIM-listed exploration and development group, is pushing ahead with its expansion plans in South America with its latest deal in Brazil.

The group, which has a portfolio of gold, silver and base metal projects in Brazil and Peru, has a strategy to discover grassroots projects, conduct exploration and develop them through farm-out agreements with other larger mining companies.

The latest deal is a heads-of-agreement deal with Canadian Amarillo Gold Corporation to develop Horizonte's 1,000sq km Mara Rosa gold project in Brazil. Amarillo will invest $400,000 in developing the project for a 60 per cent interest and satisfy Horizonte's generation costs.

The group should be one to watch as it is reportedly looking to boost activity this year with drilling at its flagship Tangara gold project in Brazil and El Aguila silver project in Peru underway. It is on the hunt for new projects and South America is a region that is ever more coming into focus for the mining majors.
